PROJECT SUMMARY

The City intends to plant 50 trees within multiple parks along street frontage and in and around common gathering areas within the parks. The intent of these plantings is to aid in cooling impervious areas, improve air quality and improve quality of life.

The trees will be located in and around Kim Weddle and Brunswick Heights Park between N. Maple Ave and MD Rte. 17, City Park near the corner of E. Potomac St and Park Ave., Railroad Park around the train station parking lot and YMCA Park along 100 Block of E. Potomac St. Downtown. All of these sites are on property owned and maintained by the City of Brunswick. These sites were selected because of the need for cooling of impervious areas and to compliment upgrades currently planned for all of our park areas. These upgrades include new play equipment, accessible entrances, and other aesthetic upgrades. The tree plantings will improve the overall environment of our parks.

The entire City of Brunswick community will benefit from this project. The planting sites are in 5 of the public City parks. Of course the residents living in the neighborhoods where these parks are located will most directly benefit. Majority of the parks involved in this project are in the older, more mature neighborhoods of our City and thus represent more under-served residential tracts. This project aligns perfectly with other projects for improvements to the parks. The benefit of adding these trees to the other park improvements planned will serve the community well. The City of Brunswick will be partnering with the Rotary's Environmental Community on this project. The Rotary group will be assisting with the planting. Since they are working on multiple sites having volunteers to help with planting will expedite the work thus resulting in less interruption to park-goers. Also engaging with the Rotary will solidify the stewardship the group has towards the project and the on-going care of the trees.
