Welcome from
Gary Jobson, Board Chairman
Jana Davis, Executive Director

Tonight, August 20, 2020, marks the Chesapeake Bay Trust's first-ever virtual gala, and we are honored that you have chosen to be here with us. As many of you know, every year about 500 of us gather in person to celebrate the beauty of the Chesapeake. We call the event the "Treasure the Chesapeake," and it has been a Trust tradition every spring for over 20 years. This year with the pandemic, we have been unable to celebrate together in person. However, we still wanted to mark the occasion with something special. We scratched our heads and came up with a plan.

After countless event meetings over Zoom about how we were all managing the pandemic, we continued to gravitate towards a recurring theme: Taking the closures of theaters and restaurants into account, let's share the hidden gems we have visited throughout the region during COVID. From there sprouted our new celebration, "Treasures of the Chesapeake".

In the interest of time, we can only show you some of these favorite places as we know we are leaving many important ones out— even some of our favorites. Nevertheless, we are excited about the eleven places we are sharing with you tonight: Mallow's Bay, Thomas Point Park, the Anacostia River, Blackwater National Wildlife Refuge, tips on natural wildlife habitats, the Coastal Bays near Assateague Island, Boordy Vineyards, Baltimore City, the experience of a sail with America's Cup sailor Gary Jobson, Calvert Cliffs State Park, and a special presentation of Smith Island with photographer Jay Fleming. We are hope that each of these journeys will inspire you not only to visit these sites, but to find your own special places.

As you all know, the Chesapeake Bay Trust is a grant-making organization, and we take the proceeds from the Chesapeake Bay license plate and other sources, like those from the generous sponsors of this virtual gala, and invest them in projects all across the watershed. We express our deepest gratitude to Sandy Spring Bank, BGE and the Exelon family, The Keith Campbell Foundation for the Environment the Great Chesapeake Bay Swim, MacKenzie Contracting and Commercial Real Estate, Venable LLP, Annapolis Cars, Environmental Quality Resources (EQR), Elm Street Development, Miles and Stockbridge, and many more regional businesses (a full list of sponsors appears throughout these pages). We encourage you to learn more about these businesses and the commitment they have made to our region's natural resources.

We know this is a tough time for many people for so many reasons. Our thoughts are with you all, and we hope that everyone can stay as safe and healthy as possible. Thank you so much for tuning in with us for our first ever virtual gala. We hope you enjoyed the video presentations. Don't forget to keep bidding on the silent auction at www.32auctions.com/TTC2020 which closes at 8pm.

MASTER OF CEREMONY

GARY JOBSON

Chairman, Chesapeake Bay Trust

As a sailor, Gary Jobson has enjoyed a long and successful career in boats small and large. He was twice named College Sailor of the Year. He has won many of the world's offshore races, and he was tactician on the winning America's Cup yacht, Courageous, in 1977, with skipper Ted Turner. He started his career as a sailing coach at the U.S. Merchant Marine Academy, and later at the U.S. Naval Academy. Since then, Jobson has authored 21 books on sailing, narrated or produced 1,200 television programs and films, has given over 2,700 lectures, and has competed in 5,700 races. His articles appear regularly in Sailing World magazine, Cruising World magazine, and What's Up Annapolis. Jobson is currently a Vice President of the Board of World Sailing, the sport's international governing body, Chair of the Board of Trustees of Luminis Health and Chair of the Chesapeake Bay Trust. He is also Vice Chair of Visit Annapolis & Anne Arundel County.

Jobson spent 31 years with ESPN covering nine America's Cup events and producing many documentaries. He has covered seven Olympics (including the upcoming Tokyo 2020 Olympics) and an America's Cup for NBC. For his work in television, Jobson has been presented with two Emmys, four Telly's and an ACE Award.

For many years, Jobson has been actively involved with education, environmental issues and healthcare. From 1993-2017 he served as Chair of the Leukemia Cup Regatta Series, which has raised over $60 million. Jobson spent 15 years on the Board of Blue Cross Blue Shield of Virginia. In 2012 the Gary Jobson Professorship of Medical Oncology was established at the University of Maryland Medical School for Dr. Aaron Rapoport. (Jobson survived a two-year battle with lymphoma in 2003-04).

Jobson is a Trustee Emeritus at St. Mary's College of Maryland, a committee member of the Friends of St. John's College, and serves on the Fales Committee at the U.S. Naval Academy. He is also a past President of US Sailing, America's governing body of sailing. Jobson was inducted into the National Sailing Hall of Fame (2011) and the America's Cup Hall of Fame (2003) by the Herreshoff Marine Museum. In 1999 he won the Nathanael G. Herreshoff Trophy, US SAILING's most prestigious award.

Jobson is a Graduate of the State University of New York Maritime College. He attended Graduate School at CW Post College (Political Science) and was awarded a Doctor of Letters from the State University of New York in 2005, and a Doctor of Humane Letters by Lakeland College in 2013.

Gary and his wife, Janice, have three grown daughters and five grand children. The Jobson's have lived in Annapolis, Maryland since 1977. Jobson's hobbies include day sailing Whirlwind, his open cockpit sloop, skiing, fly-fishing, reading and taking long walks.

About the Chesapeake Bay Trust

The Chesapeake Bay Trust is a nonprofit grant-making organization dedicated to restoring and protecting the rivers, streams, and other natural resources of Maryland and the entire Chesapeake Bay watershed—from the Coastal Bays to the Chesapeake to the Youghiogheny River—through environmental education, community outreach, and local watershed restoration. Since its inception in 1985, the Trust has awarded $100 million in grants and engaged hundreds of thousands of resident stewards in projects that have a measurable impact on the Chesapeake Bay and its tributaries.

The Trust is supported by the sale of the Chesapeake license plate, donations to the Chesapeake Bay and Endangered Species Fund on the Maryland State income tax form, donations from Maryland's online boating, fishing, and hunting license system, contributions from individuals and corporations, and partnerships with private foundations and federal, state, and local governments. The Trust has received the highest rating from Charity Navigator for fifteen years: on average 90 percent of the Trust's expenditures are directed to its restoration and education programs.

Each year, we award approximately $120 million in grant funding to hundreds of nonprofits and community organizations throughout the state for environmental education, community outreach, and local watershed restoration projects. This funding provides everyday citizens with the resources they need to accomplish projects that have a measurable, positive impact on the health of the Bay and its rivers and streams. We believe that getting citizens involved is key to restoring the Chesapeake Bay.

Thank you for your support.
