This project's goal was to design two new green features in their community in order to further activate and celebrate community open spaces, reduce stormwater runoff, and provide positive nature-based experiences for our youth. Designing a green garden for the Bethel playscape in a new 7000 square-foot green space in their community elementary school follows the communities previous green infrastructure master planning efforts that envision a revitalized Oliver that recognizes green space as a pillar of its vitality and health.

The 6th Branch is a non-profit 501(c)3 using military veteran leadership to execute aggressive community service in Baltimore.
